

Buying and selling a car – speaking activity

Student A worksheet

You have just seen an ad for a used car which seems of interest to you. Before you invest your time actually looking at it, you need more information about the car. Your partner is the owner of the car. Ask him questions in order to get the missing information.

Remember:

If the seller doesn't answer these questions or gives you answers which sound dishonest or inconsistent, you'd better keep looking. You are the one to start and finish the conversation. Be decisive, but always polite.
